Dear Sir:

Your letter of 22 Jan 1978 was most welcome (please accept my apology for the long delay in answering). I have taken your advice and am busy on Trimpour research - a very able friend, well acquainted with Public Archives of Canada and the Ottawa Branch of OGS, is helping me. This is most fortunate for one starting at the "beginning".

There are questions, of course. May I enlist your time and authority for answers to a couple of short ones?

- ① Your publication "Loyalist Graves in the Bay of Quinte Region". Where may I obtain a copy? Also, has any organization attempted to enlarge or up-date this important work?
- ② At this stage it is not certain that I will be able to trace my ancestry back to Paul or John Drumppour. However, in case this becomes possible, is there any extant publication or MSS authenticating their entitlement to UEL status, and detailing their ancestry back one or more generations?

Genealogy is fascinating and I am fully immersed therein - learning in a small way about something which you have no doubt enjoyed for over 20 years.

Thank you for your help and encouragement.

Sincerely
Wallace Drumper

LED FROM ITALY

Lisa Sergio was born in Florence, Italy, of an American mother, and became an American citizen when she came to the United States in flight from certain arrest in Italy, where, as chief radio operator for Mussolini she had tampered with the official scripts in order to let the world know about Fascism. Her talk is one of a series in her current cross-country lecture tour, during which she will be heard in many cities and towns.

It was Guglielmo Marconi, the father of radio, who, in all innocence, first persuaded Miss Sergio to become a news commentator for the Mussolini regime. Like many other deluded persons, Mr. Marconi believed that Fascism was "A good thing for Italy". Miss Sergio was given the highly important assignment of news broadcaster in English on Rome's short wave radio station, and it was through these broadcasts that her velvety voice became well known in England and the United States. Her discovery of Mussolini's menace to world peace inspired her to gamble her very life in an effort to get the honest truth to the world. Tampering with official Fascist scripts was a dangerous business, and Miss Sergio, learning of her interest, managed to escape the clutches of her mother's regime.

Dear Dr. Burligh,

Just the other day I received a letter concerning my inquiry as to the birth-place of J. Nicolas Trombauer. It came not from Germany, but from Pennsylvania. A Mr. Charles Price had received a letter from one Dr. Fritz Braun in Germany concerning my letter. Apparently, this man's wife is a Trumbauer, and Mr. Price has done extensive digging around to find out where the family came from. To date, he has found no family on record in Germany with the name Trumbauer, so he believes that Switzerland may have been their homeland.

I have two chief inquiries to make at this point; first, does the bulk of your information on the Trumpeurs (J. Nicolas, etc.) come from a book by Wm. J. Hoffman? This is a book which Mr. Price mentioned, but which I cannot locate. Second, could you tell me the names of Nicolas Trombauer's sons? The Mr. Price believes that

The Pennsylvania Trombauers were not ~~of the~~ ^{of the} progeny of J. Niclas. The names I am looking for in particular are Andreas Trombauer and/or George Trombauer, probably born in Germany before 1709.

I still have not received the letter from Dr. Brauen in Germany; I suppose it is Canada's abominable mail service that is responsible. However, I will fill you in on anything new I can learn. While I am thinking of it, the information you have on the Trumpons says that J. Niclas was a Roman Catholic; I have good reason to doubt that statement.

Also, I have not had the opportunity to get in touch with your friend Mr. Maybee about the Tappan records. Hopefully I can get on that soon.

Hoping to hear from you,

Sincerely,

Mark Trumpon.

Trumpour

One of the outstanding families who participated in the first settlement of Adolphustown on 16 June 1784, with ~~Abraham Bay~~ and ~~his son Cillest~~ the brothers, John and Paul Trumpbour. This name has undergone changes in spelling to a more English interpretation of the German Trumbach, as used in the days of the Palatine Emigration of 1708-12. Since that time there have been various spellings used - Tromper, Trombo, Trompod Trumbach, Tromper, Trombor, Trombort, Trombour, Tromboor, Trompoort, Tromphander, Trumbach, ³³ and in the Bay of Quinte region the adopted spelling is Trumpour. ³³ normally.

The Trumpour family belonged to the German residents of the Rhine Valley, known as the Palatine Germans, who fled from the ravages by the French of their native country to seek refuge in Holland and in England. The family, at the time of emigration, were of the Roman Catholic faith, but became absorbed into the Lutheran congregation after settlement in America.

The first emigrant of the family was Johann Nicholas Trumbauer, was 33 years of age in 1789, the year he left the homeland. His wife was Magdalena Steer, and they were accompanied by a son ^{of 6 years}, two daughters ^{one} of 3 years, and a second one $3\frac{1}{4}$ year of age. The first appears in the West Camp, in one of its three villages set out on the so-called Fullerton patent, on the ~~east~~ ^{west} side of the Hudson River, near present day Saugerties, N.Y. On 3 March, 1785, he purchased a farm near Kingston, N.Y. and not far from the Katsbaan Church. His date of death and place of burial is unknown. ⁵³

Paul, his eldest son, who was born in 1763, married Christina of whom nothing further is known, except that his surname was possibly Diederick.

Johannes, ~~the~~ his eighth child and third son, was born 5 April, 1719, ^{and} died before ^{28 June} 1785, the date of probate of his will. He married date not known, Christina ~~Fiere~~ (or Fiere), daughter of Valentin Fiere of Katsbaan and his wife Catharina Schram. In his will dated 3 March 1785, he mentions, his wife Christine, sons Nicholas and Jacob, as well as other sons and daughters, unnamed. Johannes was a farmer and lived on his father's old homestead near the Katsbaan Church. He had also acquired other large tracts of land in that neighborhood.

At the outbreak of the Revolutionary War several of the Trumpours became Tories. Among those who refused to sign the Articles of the Association of Freeholders and Inhabitants of Ulster County, N.Y. in 1775 are recorded the names of Johannes, Nicholas, Jacob and Paul Trumpour.

The invasion by General Burgoyne in 1777 called into military service practically the whole male population, and even those who had been Tories at the beginning of the war, joined the Revolutionary colors, ~~among them~~ ~~some~~ at least temporarily.

Among the sons of Johannes Trumpour and his wife Christina were two, namely Johannes (Hannes) and Paulus, who became early Loyalist settlers along the Bay of Quinte.

Johannes, born in Katsbaan and baptized 15 March 1754, married Elizabeth Beer (Bohr). They are recorded as sponsors in 1786 in the Katsbaan Church. There is some doubt about this event, as will be shown later. It is very possible that Johannes was ~~not~~ absent at the time. Although he is recorded as having belonged to the First Regiment of Ulster Militia in the Revolutionary War, he is known to have been in New York in 1783, and to have come to Quebec in that year.

There is also record of a son,

Johannes, born 27 March, 1777, and baptized at West Camp 30 March in the same year, his grandparents Johannes Trombor and his wife Christine being sponsors.

The Reed Index of the Sons and Daughters of U. E. Loyalists furnishes the following children of John (Hannes) Trumpour of Sophiasburgh. The O.C. refers to the ~~date~~ of the Order-in-Council by which these children each was granted 200 acres of land. These children were:

son Paul of Hollowell. O.C. 17 March, 1804.

dan. Catharine, wife of James Osburn of ~~Hollowell~~ Sophiasburgh. O.C. 13 March, 1807.

dan. Jena, wife of Robert Carlett of Sophiasburgh. O.C. 13 March, 1807.

dan. Deborah, wife of Nehemiah Osburn of Sophiasburgh. O.C. 26 March 1817.

son William of Hollowell. O.C. 1 Aug., 1833.

The settlement of Johannes on Green Point in Sophiasburgh occurred after the settlement of his brother in Adolphustown. The fact that Johannes had requested Maj. Peter Van Alstene to have a permit issued to him to meet ^x his wife at Skensborough, as this item from a letter to General Malmgren will confirm:

Soré 17th May 1784

"Sir, there is a Mr. Simon Cole & John Trumpore that have their families in the Country they have wrote for them to meet them at Skensburg. They are now Destitute of Permissions to go out for them I could wish you'd send Permissions for those Two men and as many Hands as will work the Boats If you should agree to Influence the Commander in Chief in their favour should be glad it might be Don By the next Post ^x as their families will Be There Soon."

A reply:

Head Quarters Quebec 20 May 1784

"I enclose a Pass for Messrs. Cole and Trumpore and the men necessary to man the Boats to bring their families from Skensborough — but all this should have been done long ago, as they will not only lose a season at their Settlement but partial Transports will be attended with Inconvenience and Expence to the Public."

It is therefore evident that John Trumpore, from New York had sent word to his wife to proceed north to Skensborough ^x where they would meet before proceeding ^{on} to settlement. It is also apparent, seeing that Paul settled in Adolphustown in 1784, that they had come from New York by boat and spent the winter in Soré. They evidently parted company, Paul to proceed to settlement in Adolphustown, while Johannes proceeded to Lake Champlain, there to await the arrival of his wife. This was the reason why Johannes did not settle until later. Otherwise the history of Johannes Trumpore as a loyalist is extremely sketchy. It is evident that he had gone to New York, and from thence had gone to Quebec by sea when New York was vacated in 1783. ^x Any ^x military service is yet to be discovered.

Paulus Trumpore, the younger brother of Johannes, was born in Katobeani and baptized there 31 May, 1757. He married 9 Aug., 1780, Deborah Emery. He had settled in Catskill.

Beyond this point the history of this family becomes unclear.
It is known that Paulus had become a Cornet in Delancey's Horse. He and his wife were evidently living in New York City in 1753, and in the same year he and his family sailed with Mayor VanAlstine's party to Quebec. On 16 June, 1784, he with his wife and a son under ten years of age settled in Adolphustown, where he finally died in 1813. Paul settled on a farm in the third concession lots 28, 29, 31 & 32 on what was long known as Trumpour Point. A number of his descendants lie buried in the family cemetery along the road on lot 29, Concession 3.

Paul Trumpour died of disease 27 March 1813, while in the service as Captain of the Addington Dragoons, leaving his widow Deborah as a Militia Pensioner. He was then 56 years of age as a Militia Pensioner. He was then 56 years of age.

Personal Notes.

The Trumpours.

The Trumpours.--Paul Trumpour, the original of the family of that name, was one of the pioneers and settled in third concession on a farm now owned by a great grandson, and which has been always in the family. It is now the most numerous family in the township. He was an officer in Lieut. Delany's Brigade during the American Rebellion. His two sons John and Joseph, married daughters of John Dorland, and raised large families. John had 13 children and Joseph 11. Several of both families are still living in the township. There were several daughters of Paul Trumpour. One married McCuaig, of Halliwell, and was mother of the late James McCuaig who represented Prince Edward County in Parliament for years. Another married Simeon Washburn, who became a member of the old Legislative Council, and was, seventy years ago, one of the wealthiest and most prominent citizens of that county; and one married James Cummings, also a prominent business man in Prince Edward. There are numerous descendants of all these families not only in Lennox and Prince Edward but throughout the Province. The Trumpours were Quakers.

Mr. J. B. Allison, aged 92 years, of Adelphustown, where he settled in 1840, stated that Joseph Trumpour loved and owned fine horses. He raised one colt named Taconey, which he sold to a Yankee who raced the horse in the fastest time that had been made up to that time, less than three minutes for the mile. It was a gray horse.

He related that there was much rivalry between the 2nd, 4th and 5th concessions in wrestling and that Paul Trumpour, brother of Joseph, whipped every man that was put up.

He also showed us a roll that he had made depicting the history of Adelphustown for the one hundredth celebration which took place on June 16th to 18th, 1884. He said he had four Trumpours on his committee for this celebration. They were, L. W., Thomas, T. Paul, and J. H. Trumpour.

(Paul, ~~Trumpour~~)

Richard Trumpour was born in Prince Edward County Aug. 3, 1807 and Jane Howe was born in Kingston Dec 1st, 1812. They were married March 15, 1836, and settled in Hungerford Township, Hastings County. They hewed the logs for their first home and later replaced it with a finer house. This township was settled in 1826 by the Woodcock family in Tweed on the Moria River. It was a sickly country and twenty miles from the nearest store or grist mill.

John R. Way owned the first team of horses in the township. The first town meeting was held in his home in 1836. Previous to 1848 no records were kept, but in that year J. G. Foster was made clerk. Then Samuel T. Dorland was clerk, then Samuel Baker. The records show that Anthony Denike, 3rd son of Andrew Denike, was commissioner and reeve in 1849 and 1850

Richard and Jane Howe Trumpour settled some distance from Ince on a large farm of rolling land well covered with the stones native of Hastings County. They were six miles from Samuel and Lucy Ann Baker's farm. There is a large creek running thru the place, on which was a small saw mill where grandfather made cedar shingles. The creek was dammed above the mill.

Richard Trumpour was a rather lucky go easy fellow, carefree and jolly. He loved to trade horses and at times inebriated too freely. His wife was an industrious and hard working woman. He gave a lovely hill site for the local church and cemetery. This hill is called the Hog's Back. This couple lived and died on this farm and are buried in the cemetery.

Their children, all born on the old homestead, were:

N.Y. From thence he went to Rochester, where he became many years and made a success of it in ~~Franklin~~ Crawford County.

He always went twice a year to Rochester, N.Y., to pack

he married Sept. 16, 1869. She was then 18 and he was 25
She was the sixth child of Mayor (Major?) James F. Mackey and his wife Caroline McKinstry Mackey. She was born in Clarion, Penna., on May 25, 1851, and was 10 years old when her father went to war.

After the Civil War James F. Mackey moved his family to Franklin, Penna., where the children had better school facilities. Later Mary Loretta (Laura) and her sister Caroline attended Ingrim Seminary at LeRoy, N.Y., a Presbyterian finishing school.

Fredrick and Mary Loretta settled in Meadville and lived $1\frac{1}{2}$ years at the corner of North Main and Randolph Sts. Their son, Fredrick James, was born there. Then they bought on College Street, where Richard Frank and Grace were born. About 6 years later Park Avenue was opened up from Randolph Street to the College, so Fredrick bought on this street and built two houses facing Park Avenue, & moved into one of them when Grace was 7 years old. Here they lived until March 20, 1892, when they moved to Cleveland.

During this time the family name was changed from Trumpon to Trumper.

Fredrick James born Oct 3, 1870. He married Jessie Smith m.d. on Aug. 25, 1908. She practised in Glenville and all through Greater Cleveland until 1917 when they went into war work in Washington, D.C. They live in Forest Glen, Maryland.

Richard Frank (Dick) born June 18, 1873, came with the family to Cleveland and went into the Railroad business. He married Sylvia Bridgman on Oct. 14, 1896 at her home on Old Logon Ave., which is now east 97th Street. They lived on this latter street when both of their children were born

Wallace Suzern, born April 25, 1901

Elizabeth Field on Feb 16, 1904

They both attended school at Bolton School on East 89th Street.

In 1912 the Trumpers went to Boston to live, settling in Walldoston, a suburb. They remained here until 1918 when Dick was transferred to Cleveland. Elizabeth finished her High School course at Shaw High School in East Cleveland. The week the girls took their College Board Examinations the Trumpers moved to Buffalo, N.Y., where they are now living at 64 Frontenac Ave.

Wallace Suzern Trumper, named for his grandparents Frederick Wallace Trumper and Suzern Bridgman, graduated from Walldoston High School in 1918. He went to work for Stone Webster Co., and on Sept 10, 1926 married Marjory Pinkim in Walldoston. They went to Columbus, Ga., but were soon transferred to Beaumont, Texas, where they still reside. My dear Mr. [illegible]

I have just received your letter of the 19th inst. and am glad to hear from you. I am well and hope this finds you the same. I have been thinking much of late about the future of our country and the state of our Union. It seems to me that we are passing through a critical period in our history and that the result will determine whether we are to remain a united people or become a collection of warring states. I believe that the only way to preserve our Union is by maintaining the principles of liberty and justice for all, and by supporting the Constitution in its entirety. I am sure that you will agree with me in this view.

I am, Sir, very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,

for executive and training work. She was so efficient that she advanced very rapidly and soon was at the head of a large training school in the store. Later she was sought by midwest firms to establish similar schools in stores. She married Feb. 8, 1930 and lived for a time in Beaumont, Texas, but is now living in Buffalo, N.Y., where she has a fine position.

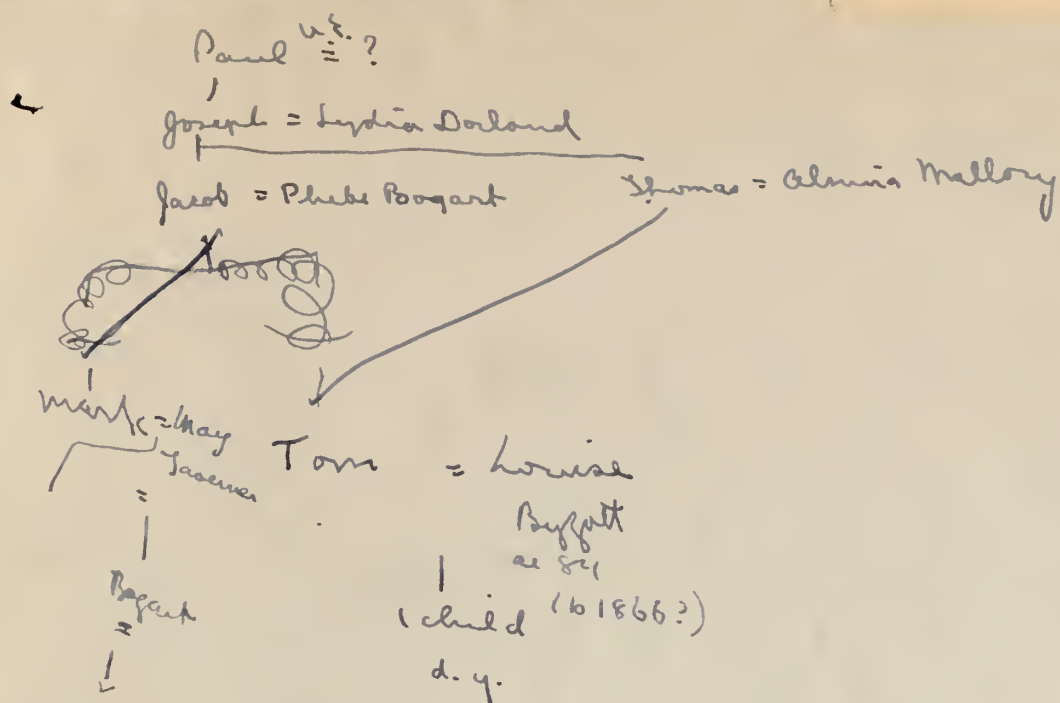

Grace born Sept 25, 187-, went to school in Meadville and to Allegheny College until the family moved to Cleveland in Mar., 1892. She started at once at Miss Mittleberger's school for girls and graduated June 12 1894. She married William Albert Davis, a boot and shoe merchant located at Broadway in Cleveland, Feb. 10, 1898. Resides on East 73rd Street

On the death of Tom Trumpour his wife was left two farms (180 acres). The home next to Jess Johnson's was clear. As time went on she lost it through the squandering of her nephew Jack Bygott. She apparently was a sister of Frank Bygott. She is now (May 7/50) on Old Age Pension, & has been living in Naperville.

THE TRUMPOUR FAMILY.

Paul and Haunts TRUMPOUR, who were brothers, appear to have been the only pioneers of this family in the Bay of Quinte district; and the latter it would seem came direct to Prince Edward county, while the former settled at Adolphustown. There is no record of Haunts having lived at the latter place, but the name of Paul is to be found in the "Annual Return of the Inhabitants of Adolphustown," continuously from 1794 to 1812, inclusive. As it is omitted in 1813 and afterwards it is fair to presume that his advent into Prince Edward corresponds with the last named year. Haunts settled at Green Point, Sophiasburgh, and it is said, came up the Bay of Quinte past the home of his brother, who had already located at Adolphustown. Paul was an officer in Lieutenant Delany's brigade during the American Rebellion. His two sons, John and Joseph, married daughters of John Dorland, a prominent United Empire Loyalist, while one of his daughters, of whom there were several, married Mr. McQuaig, of Hallowell, and was the mother of the late James McQuaig, who represented Prince Edward county in Parliament for years. Another daughter, Deborah, married Simeon Washburn, who became a member of the old Legislative Council, and was in his day one of the most prominent citizens in the Bay district. Another daughter married James Cummings, a prominent leading business man of Prince Edward. John and Joseph TRUMPOUR, above mentioned, had large families; the former, thirteen, and the latter, eleven children.

Of the children of Haunts Trumpour it is known that John married Miss Lazier and settled on the High Shore, while Paul married Katherine Doxsee and settled in Hillier. William married and settled in Hungerford. The three daughters married James, Meyer, and Richard Osborne, respectively, and settled in Sophiasburgh.

Paul TRUMPOUR, son of Haunts TRUMPOUR, drew two hundred acres of land, which now stands in the centre of the city of Toronto. At the time he considered it of no value and did not assume ownership, but bought lands and settled upon the lake shore near Wellington, now owned by Clayton Pettingell and Milton Leavens. He married Rebecca Doxsee and had nine children. His son, Joseph TRUMPOUR, settled in the second concession of Hallowell. He was an earnest christian man, a successful farmer and a most excellent citizen. He was regular in his attendance upon the Methodist church, assisting the church at all times, financially and otherwise, and indeed, extending his charity and liberality to other churches as well. He married Elizabeth, daughter of Erastur Howard and granddaughter of Guillaume Demorest (see Demorest family) and had two children, to-wit, Richard TRUMPOUR, who married Hannah Howard, and Catherine TRUMPOUR, who married Benjamin Ainsworth.

Richard TRUMPOUR resides in Wellington. He takes an honest and worthy pride in his father's high character and excellent life and is emulating his good example. The TRUMPOURS came originally from Dutchess county, N. Y., and are undoubtedly of Dutch extraction. At one time nearly all of the family belonged to the Society of Friends.
